

RJA Construction

Billy Rousseau has a clear vision for his homebuilding company: Honesty, transparency and communication, with a focus on quality throughout. “We’re committed to staying true to our brand – rooted, joyful and accomplished. That is what defines The RJA Way.”

Success, says Billy, goes beyond building structures. It’s about forging lasting relationships. “Trust plays a vital role in the journey.” In addition to delighted homeowners, the company has built enduring connections with top architects, design firms, trade partners and RJA team members. “These individuals are more than just collaborators. They are family.”

Specialties span a diverse spectrum of genres and styles – historical, modern and traditional. “We prioritize maintaining historical authenticity while updating spaces for modern living, striving to strike a perfect balance between the past and present,” says Billy.

The RJA team is thrilled to announce the upcoming presentation of its custom spec home concept, scheduled for early 2025. “This initiative is the fruit of our dynamic collaboration with one of our trusted architectural partners. Together, we are finalizing plans for a unique, high-performing and healthy custom spec home, designed to set new standards

Partnerships are essential for growth. Using Buildertrend construction technology, RJA maintains close contact with homeowners, providing daily progress reports and schedule adjustments to accelerate construction without compromising quality. Milestone surveys gather feedback for timely changes, ensuring trust and ensuring projects meet high standards and client satisfaction.
